

Anna Brancaccio

Italian Ministry of Education, Conclusion

Finally, Anna Brancaccio draws the conclusions of the event, invites everyone to access the SMART website and platform in order to get to know the works which have been prepared and thanks all the participants.

Some materials are distributed to each participant:

“SMARTer Mathematics and Science for Teaching and Learning” (a pamphlet containing a detailed description of the project aims, activities and products), “LS OSA lab” (a pamphlet containing a detailed description of the LS OSA Italian Project), “Problem Posing and Solving: Strategic Italian Key Action to Enhance Teaching and Learning Mathematics and Informatics in the High School”, 39th Annual Computer Software and Applications Conference, Taichung, Taiwan 1-5 July 2015 (an article written by A. Brancaccio, M. Marchisio, C. Palumbo, C. Pardini, A. Patrucco, R. Zich for the 2015 IEEE Conference) and “Innovazione didattica in matematica: PP&S su piattaforma e-learning in ambiente di calcolo evoluto” (an article written by A. Brancaccio for DIDAMATICA 2013)